

Seminar – Animal Research 2023

Are you part of the technical staff, students, PhD students, postdocs, senior scientists and others using the animal facilities at Health, Aarhus University?

Then join us for this inspirational seminar gathering everyone interested in animal research at the Department of Clinical Medicine and the Department of Biomedicine, Health, AU.

You will gain new insights into animal research and be able to network.

Date: 30 November 2023
Time: 12:00 – 12:30: Sandwich
12:30 – 15:00: Meeting
Place: Preben Hornung Stuen, Bldg. 1422/132, Fredrik Niensens Vej 2-4, 8000 Aarhus C
Registration: <https://events.au.dk/seminaronanimalresearch2023>
Deadline: 22 November
Language: English

Programme

- 12.00-12.30: Sandwich
- 12.30-12.45: Welcome & Presentation of 2023 in the Animal Welfare Bodies at Health, AU
by Gregers Wegener, chairperson of the Animal Welfare Committee, AU Health
- 12.45-13.05: Establishing a Novel Rodent Model for Stroke-Reperfusion
by Line Mathilde Brostrup Hansen, winner of the 3R prize 2023
- 13.05-13.35: How the Choice of Animal Model can Positively Affect the Reproducibility of Research
Tine Larsen, Scanbur
- 13.35-13.50: Coffee break and networking
- 13.50-14.00: Reporting of 3Rs Approaches in Preclinical Animal Experimental Studies—A Nationwide Study
Birgitte Kousholt, Veterinarian, Department of Clinical Clinical Medicine, AU Health
- 14.00-14.30: Evidence-Based Transition to Animal-free Innovations
by Merel Ritskes-Hoitinga, professor at the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Utrecht University, The Netherlands
- 14.30-15.00 From transgenic mice to iPSC-derived cell and organoids models of human diseases
Thomas Franz Erich Willnow, Professor, Department of Biomedicine, AU Health
- 15.00 Final remarks

Registration

Event website